By Greg Hunter's USAWatchdog.com. Warren Pollock warns the global economy is headed for a brick wall. Pollock explains, "It's good you are using the term brick because that's the part of the economy which is crashing first, the emerging markets, the BRICS (Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa). That's on the edge of empire, and now it is imploding inward."

Major wars and economic crises force the pace of change within and between capitalist states, giving rise to new alignments and shifts in the geopolitics of world capitalism. 1 At the time of writing this article, turmoil in financial markets triggered by faltering growth in significant parts of the globe was provoking fears that the world economy was plunging into another recession.

China's capitalism and the crisis "International Socialism"

There has been a great deal of anxiety about the motivations behind China's going out policy and its possible international consequences. Many view it as an expression of China's international ambition and a strategy that threatens the existing international order; however, that is not the whole story. An equally important but often less understood issue is the role of China's domestic ...
