The International Organization for Migration (IOM) expects the scale of global migration to rise as a result of accelerated climate change. It, therefore, recommends policymakers around the world to take a proactive stance on the matter. The IOM is composed of 146 member states and 13 observer states and "works closely with governments in promoting migration management that ensures humane and ...

1. Introduction. Reducing risks to food security from climate change is one of the major challenges of the 21st century. The impacts of climate change on crop yield can already be detected in observed data (Lobell et al., 2011). Climate impact studies on crops predominate, but impacts on fisheries and livestock production are no less serious (Creighton et al., 2015, Herrero et al., 2015).
