In military theory, strategy is "the utilization during both peace and war, of all of the nation's forces, through large scale, long-range planning and development, to ensure security and victory" (Random House Dictionary). The father of Western modern strategic study, Carl von Clausewitz, defined military strategy as "the employment of battles to gain the end of war."

I know you're not serious, but! This reminds me of something Kenzi said this weekend in California, which is that her least favorite kind of CFAR applicant is the one who says "I have come up with the optimal plan for how to improve my life and the world, but instead of doing it I just sit around and play video games.
