I have a bibtex database of optimization references (900K) available online. These are mostly interior point references. A searchable version of this bibliography is also available. I also have an unorganized list of announcements of computational packages that are available for solving a variety of problems. This page is not updated often enough, so some of the links are no longer functional.

Texts: Darij Grinberg and Victor Reiner, [Prop] Hopf Algebras in Combinatorics. [Prop] Sourcecode of the notes, and [Prop] a version with solutions to exercises. The paper also appears as arXiv preprint arXiv:1409.8356, but the version on this website is updated more frequently. These notes -- originating from a one-semester class by Victor Reiner at the University of Minnesota -- survey some ...

A polyomino is a plane geometric figure formed by joining one or more equal squares edge to edge. It is a polyform whose cells are squares. It may be regarded as a finite subset of the regular square tiling with a connected interior.. Polyominoes are classified according to how many cells they have:

Deterministic modeling process is presented in the context of linear programs (LP). LP models are easy to solve computationally and have a wide range of applications in diverse fields. This site provides solution algorithms and the needed sensitivity analysis since the solution to a practical problem is not complete with the mere determination of the optimal solution.
