Kenneth L. Schenck works towards resolving this question by approaching Hebrews' cosmology and eschatology from a text-orientated perspective. After observing that the key passages in the background debate mostly relate to the 'settings' of the story of salvation history evoked by Hebrews, Schenck attempts to delineate those settings by asking how the 'rhetorical world' of Hebrews engages that underlying narrative.

Cosmology and New Testament Theology: A Brief Introduction Sean McDonough and Jonathan Pennington Cosmology is easily disregarded in the modern world. Pictures of the moon of Saturn are quickly tossed aside to make room for pictures of the stars of Hollywood; the lights of the shopping mall blot out the night sky for a good portion of the population.

Cosmology and New Testament Theology

The term eschatology refers to that sub-field of theology devoted to the discussion (logos) of the last things (eschatos). It was located within the field of theology because of the assumption that the "last things" would represent God's ultimate intervention in history. Today, we talk of secular eschatologies—Marxism,

HOW WILL IT ALL END? Eschatology in Science and Religion

This volume deals with Jewish and Christian apocalyptic texts and movements from the second century BCE through the fourth century CE. It focuses on two major themes, cosmology and eschatology; that is, views of structure of the universe including its religious function and interpretations of history and the future.
